S.F. State Called Outstanding At Model U N Conference

San Francisco State College represented the Philippine Islands in the General Assembly of the Model United Nations at U.C.L.A. March 24-27.

Eight western states, 75 colleges and 800 students attended the 1954 meeting. San Francisco State's delegation, after rigorous preparation, was able to conduct 25 percent of the business at hand.

Members from this college included; Chandler Meloy, chairman; Bob Horn, vice-chairman and public relations; Denny Woodford, treasurer; Bob Cannon, parliamentarian; JoAnn Hendricks, secretary, and Sami Judah who was the original leader behind the movement to bring the Model U.N. to State. Dr. Alfred Sumner was the chief sponsor as well as an inspiration and a guide to the team.

A resolution to limit the time for debate to 30 minutes in committee sessions was submitted by our Philippine delegation. Passed faster than any other resolution proposed, this item of order aided in completing the preassembly business. Later this time limit proved to be excessive as no time remained for debate in the General Assembly.

Sponsoring or co-sponsoring some 12 resolutions at the Model U.N. assembly the Philippine delegation also sponsored a Malayan resolution which was defeated by the closest vote of the meeting.

Aside from the many sessions and meetings of the conference, there was a concert and a banquet which was held at the Ambassador Hotel with Jose Ferrer as master of ceremonies. Also present at the banquet were such distinguished persons as Kirk Douglas, Will Rogers, Jr. Stanley Kramer, and the Chancellor of U.C.L.A., Raymond Allen.

Leading speaker at the gathering was the Honorable Sudjarwo Tjondronegoro, acting permanent representative of the Republic of Indonesia to the United Nations.

Another guest speaker to address the assembly was Chet Huntley, well known radio news analyst. Mr. Huntley discussed the need for increased participation in future such meetings and stated that the Model U.N. must succeed on its level or there is no hope for its senior counterpart.

After San Francisco State had been chosen to host next year's Model U.N. meeting an executive of the U.C.L.A. delegation said. "One reason we supported S.F. State as the site for the 1955 Model UN. meeting was the intense enthusiasm displayed by their group."

Sharp Lobbying Wins Conference

San Francisco State College will host the Model United Nations in 1955. The Continuations Committee of the 1954 Model UN, meeting at UCLA last weekend, chose State over its only competitor, Stanford University.

The attempt to bring the conference here was the culmination of many weeks of planning and meeting with various administration and student body boards, all of which were kept secret to avoid "tipping our hand" to possible competitors.

$4,150 BUDGET

Among these actions was the approval by the Boards of Directors and Control of a self-liquidating expense budget of $4,150, in order to assure the Continuations Committee of State's ability to cover conference expenses.

The Model UN is a conference of some 70 western colleges and universities, who meet for three days, deliberating and acting in pattern of the United Nations. The General Assembly and important committees are represented by colleges, each taking the role of a UN nation. The UCLA conference included the Security Council, Economic and Social Council. Political and Security Committee, Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural Committee, Trusteeship Committee, Ad Hoc Membership Committee, and a Charter Review Conference.

The Model UN was founded at Stanford in 1951. Since then, conferences have been held at USC, UC. and UCLA.

DELEGATION CITED

According to the report given by the S.F. State observers, "We owe the credit to the regular delegation" for getting the conference, citing them and their chairman, Chan Meloy, or "so much important contact work and lobbying at the Model UN. The observers agree that it was this work that won us over . . ."

The group used many "gimmicks" in their appeal for the conference:

1. Audio-visual aids: Large posters, prepared by George Poquette's Publicity and Promotion service with photographs by Director of Photography Mike Blass, were used in the Continuations Committee, and proved highly effective.

2. Formal invitations by the Board of Directors, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and the San Francisco Convention and Tourist Bureau, were presented.

3. A budget for the conference, already prepared, indicated to the committee a large amount of serious work already done by the San Francisco State group.

4. Services of the Convention Bureau were guarantees of cooperation on registration and entire handling of the hotel reservations, and the gift of several pamphlets, maps, and "Let's Go to San Francisco" buttons.

5. The point was emphasized that San Francisco was the birthplace of the United Nations, and 1955 will be its tenth anniversary.

A panel discussiion will be given on "Religion In The Public Schools," by the Speakers Bureau. It will take place in "AI" 109, April 8, 1-2 p.m.

Student Confab Looms April 15

Problems relating to S.F. State will be discussed and analyzed on April 15 when Student Leadership Conference will be held on campus.

The intent of the conferences s to familiarize the student with the problems of a college nd introduce better ways and means of solving the problems.

The main areas for discussion are Organizations, Activities, Associated Students Business Enterprises., Communications, Club Advisory Association, Public Relations, and Student-Faculty Relations.

General sessions. panel discussion, and many other events will make up the conference program which extends throughout the day and evening.

Tentative problems that have been raised under each of the main topics. Under the Business Enterprises, the College Union, Bookstore, Print Shop. Business Office, and Inter-Collegiate athletics will be viewed and the problems of each discussed.

Other problems will be: How to interest the students in the activities of the campus? How can campus publications be improved? What are the functions of the Club Advisory Association? How to encourage community participation of S.F. State?

These are but a few of the problems and questions to be raised at the Conference. It is hoped that the students will attend this conference and bring their ideas on the subject into the foreground.

The agenda committee is composed of Mary Courtney (chairman), Claude Crownover, Jess Jones, Jeanne Kessey, Bob Klang, Len Lundgren, Jack Lynch, Pat O'Donnell, Keith Pinckney, and Dale Tussing.

Dinner will be served for those who wish to purchase it. For reservations for dinner and the conference, contact Pat O'Donnell in the Students Business Office. There will be a limited attendance and it will be on a first-come-first-served basis.

AFROTC Will Meet Federal Inspection

S.F. State's AFROTC detachment will be playing host to a special air force inspection team which will visit the campus on April 6th.

The inspection team, which is composed of several high ranking air force officers, will inspect the AFROTC detachment staff, cadet wing organization, and all facilities. The team, whose duty it is to visit the detachments at the various colleges and universities of the United States in an effort to evaluate the training of the cadets, is from Headquarters, AFROTC, Air Universiity which is located at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

State Theater's 'Glass Menagerie' Found Lacking; Shading Absent

By JAMES KEOLKER

A rather brittle and unpolished "Glass Menagerie" opened State's new Circle Theatre last Tuesday night. Despite this department's desire to support State Theatre and to see it grow and develop as one of the "better" college drama groups, we feel we must be honest and report that a great deal of Tennessee Williams' fragile play was shattered.

The Circle Theatre adaptation of Williams was an excellent idea. The play is an experimental work and the intimacy of central staging attempts to enhance the charm and conflict of the characters and their St. Louis alley apartment. As good drama, however, the production lacked power and pace. The scenes did not build and contrast and shading was nonexistant. Much of Williams' brilliancy rests in the subtle direction and building of his situations and characters.

Judy Auer was one of the most delicate and wide-eyed Lauras imaginable. There was often a strange child-like fascination in Miss Auer's acting that was most convincing to eye and ear. It was fortunate, however, that the cast was not better integrated so that Laura's radiance could have been reflected within the play rather than lost over lengthy periods of shouting and stamping.

Ray Fry was a forceful brother of Tom, but like the rest of the players, did his best work when alone. Lorraine Roache's Amanda was wonderfully irritating (as she should be), but again, when in the full company of the cast, lost her southern charm—an important key to the play's production. Marvyn Murphy gave the lines of the Gentleman Caller.

A little stronger direction and some harder work by the cast as a whole could have made "Glass Menagerie" State's best production. The Circle Theatre, while nothing elaborate, did offer some fine lighting, and if integrated with the production as a whole, could have illuminated an effective set.

Margaret Mead Speaks To Students

Margaret Mead, famous anthropologist, Director of Studies in Contemporary Cultures for the American Museum of Natural History and author of many books, spoke at State twice, Mar. 25.

Her afternoon talk, open only to students of this college, was entitled, "The Emerging American Character." The evening presentation was entitled, "Bringing up Children in a Changing World," and was open to the public. Both talks were presented in the Creative Arts Building Auditorium, and were well attended.

The lectures were made possible by cooperation and sponsorship of the Associated Students, and San Francisco Mental Health Society.

"We are as puzzling to the rest of the world as the Russians are to us," said Miss Mead. She believes this to be of crucial importance to the world, but adds that understanding alone cannot save us from ourselves today. We have power for enormous harm, she said, but not for unaided good. Cooperation and understanding have to be keynotes of our day.

People of the Admiralty Islands, for example, believe we have invented a way for large groups of people to live together without quarrelling; that we believed all human beings equal. As a result, women and children are now considered equal to men in their culture. People can now choose their own mates; children over ten vote and attend councils.

They also believe we know how to keep babies alive; to keep people from working too hard and dying young. This knowledge is very important in the face of previous death rates among the islanders.

Natives were so anxious to gain the advantages of our methods they paid their taxes two years before their government was ready to receive them. This is a dramatic change from the usual breakdown primitives experience from initial contact with Eastern or Western Civilization.

"We want the kind of society in which any boy can be President, even though only a few have a chance," was the feeling Miss Mead encountered among these peoples.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

When students burn the midnight oil
While cramming for a test,
The smooth, fresh smokes they reach for most
Are Luckies... always best!

Marilyn Sergeant

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason . . . enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better . . . always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

State's 'The Rivals' Will Open New C.A. Little Theatre on April 7-10

The Drama department will officially open the Little Theatre of the new Creative Arts building with its production of Richard Bnrisley Sheridan's "The Rivals," April 7-10.

Sheridan's "The Rivals," his first play, written in 1775, is a comedy and largely employs the writing convention of the Restoration. "The Rivals," says B. Ifor Evans, "shows an ease and mastery which in a first play is almost incredible."

Because Sheridan had a relatively short career as a dramatist—he was for many years a politico. in English government—he wrote only three plays that have remained popular. They are "The Rivals," "The School for Scandal," and "The Critic." These three plays were written between 1775 and 1779.

The State production, which is being directed by drama Prof. Jules Irving, is in its final rehearsal period. The cast for the play includes the following Staters: Margery Werby, Rudy Solari, Shaffer Fulton, Shirley Chambers, Bruce Chesse, Henrietta Edwards, Manuel Carvalho, Marilyn Bonmy, Dion Chesse, and Alan Simms.

Elaborate costumes, fashioned after the dress of the period in which the play was written, are being made by a Drama department crew headed by Jack Cook.

Tickets for "The Rivals" uay be obtained at the Creative Arts box office, CA 110. Reservations can be made by calling college Ext. 440. General admission will be 90 cents, and student admission 60 cents.

Curtain time for the April 7-10 performances will be 8:00 p.m.

New Constitutional Revisions to Be Voted On in This Month's Elections

A joint meeting of the Board of Directors and Board of Control was held on February 25. Four proposed ASSFSC constitutional revisions were drafted n which students will vote during the forthcoming elections on April 29-30.

The first of the proposed revisions is: "The secretary and the treasurer shall have 60 units of work completed at the end of the semester in which he is elected. The activities Commissioner shall have 45 units completed at the end of the semester in which he is elected."

As this paragraph originally stands, the Activities Commissioner is required to have completed 60 units at the end of the semester in which he is elected. It was pointed out at the meeting that this revision would be beneficial in that it would allow sophomores, who have a greater amount of time, to run for this office.

ALTERNATE MEMBERS

A new paragraph was proposed for Article II, Section 2; itreads: "In addition to the above, there shall be appointed by the President and the Board of Directors of this Association a First Alternate member and a Second Alternate member.

They shall be students with not less than 45 units completed at the end of the semester in which they are appointed, and who shall not concurrently hold any other office or appointive position in this association.

The First Alternate member shall assume voting privileges for one meeting of any student member absent from any meeting of the Board. The Second Alternate member shall assume voting privileges for one meeting of the second such member absent from any meeting of the board." In the original article there are no provisions made in the event of the absence of one or more members.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Notice of any special meeting or election of this Association whether for recall, referendum, or for any other purpose shall be provided by; 1) posting notice within 24 hours of the calling of such election on all bulletin boards on campus available to the Associated Students for this purpose, with such notice to remain posted wherever practical, until the close of such elections; and 2) publication of notice in the Golden Gater in at least one issue prior to the opening of such election."

The fourth and last of the proposed revisions is: "Special elections or meetings for the purpose of amending this Constitution shall be held not less than seven nor more than 21 days following the initiation of such amendments, and shall receive adequate prior notice as provided in Article IV of this Constitution."

It was generally thought that this amendment was needed in order to set a time limit in case it was necessary to call special election.

Coro Foundation Offers Awards

Representatives of the Coro Foundation of San Francisco will interview prospective applicants for the 9th annual Internship in Public Affairs on Wednesday, April 7.

The foundation acts on the principle that those who will eventually arrive at positions of public responsibility should have a working knowledge of the major factors that shape public affairs.

Interns are placed in a series of assignments such as government offices, business firms, labor unions, civic organizations and political campaigns. They also participate in individual and group projects.

Arrangements for interviews with Coro foundation representatives are being handled by the placement office.

GATOR HORSEHIDERS SHUT OUT OF FOUR GAMES; RAIN STARS ON HILL

State Diamond Nine Breaks Four Game Winning Streak; Baseballers Washed Off USF's Diamond

It finally took rain to stop the Gator's high flying baseball team last week. After winning four straight games, State was rained out of its March 16 encounter with the University of San Francisco, and on the 20th was stumped by rain again before it could tangle with Nevada's Wolfpack in a doubleheader scheduled at the home diamond.

Counting a March 10 washout in which the Gators were supposed to meet San Jose State at San Jose, this means that they have been rained out of four of their eight games.

This may or may not be a boon to Coach Dick Boyle's nine. Although it may be said that the pitchers will be gaining a rest, it may be that they are not getting enough work.

Thus far the Gators have been getting by on a lot of walks, occasional bursts of hitting power, a surprisingly steady defense, and a skinny freshman surprise package called Elmer Clawson.

Clawson, who claims to weigh 150, which automatically should give him the Liars Club first prize, has won three of the Gator four victories. The slim righthander has done it all with control and in relief appearances.

As soon as Elmer steps on the mound, opposing bruisers lick their chops and proceed to fly or ground-out harmlessly, while Gator batters usually go to work and produce runs for the slender righ hander.

Clawson has come around at an opportune time, since last year's ace, Joel Heckmann, has been bothered by shoulder trouble. Boyle, wanting to rest Heckmann for a more strenuous conference schedule, has been relying on his strong armed left hander, Clint Lee, conquerer of California, to get the job done. As a consequence, "Truck" has pitched about half of the innings that the Gators have played. A man like Clawson is always good to have around when you hit the home stretch.

GATOR OR GATER? . . . BOTH!!

If this column had a question and answer box a lot of confusion could be cleared by readers writing in and inquiring why State's nick-name is spelled G-a-t-o-r-s sometimes and G-a-t-e-r-s at other times.

If this question and answer box existed, we would write in our column, "Because when Gaters is spelled G-a-t-e-r-s, that refers to the newspaper, which refers to the Golden Gate Bridge. Thus State Golden Gaters. But when Gators is spelled G-a-t-o-r-s, that refers to the athletic symbol of an alligator, thus State Gators."

But since we don't have a question and answer box in which to answer these inquiries, this question will forever go down in the annals of State's unanswered questions files as an unsolved case.

GOOD THINGS COME IN LITTLE PACKAGES

State baseball has been pleasantly surprised by a skinny freshman pitcher named Elmer Clawson. Clawson, who deserves a Liars Club prize when he claims himself as weighing 150 pounds, has made himself ace of the Gator mound staff with three straight wins in relief roles.

Opposing batters lick their chops when Elmer ascends the mound, but the bespectacled righthanded control artist usually makes them ground or fly out harmlessly. From the side lines Clawson appears to be just throwing them in there and praying, but batters say that he is sneaky fast and has a deceptive sinking pitch.

Another loss was added to the Gator tote board when they lost a single playoff game to Chico determining the team to go to a college tournament. The Gators had an 8-2 league record. Below are the statistics:

Gator's Win Streak Cut By Cal Aggies

Gator Tracksters Take Third in Meet With S.J. State, S.C. Youth Center

The thinclads of State fell decisively by the wayside Saturday in a triangular meet with San Jose State College and the Santa Clara Youth Center.

The victorious Spartans amassed more than the combined total of the 'Gators and the Youth Center, scoring 116½ points, while San Francisco collected 41 and the Youth Center 62½.

San Francisco was able to pick up only one first place, that on a good performance by John Mathis, who leaped 6 ft. 1 in. to capture the high jump.

Coach Ray Kaufman's crew, suffering from a lack of training time because of the bad weather which obviously hadn't affected either San Jose or the Youth Center, scored with Shettler's fourth place in the mile and second in the two-mile. Bologna's fourth in the shot put. Askins' third in the pole vault, and with Landers and Mason in the hurdles.

Other point winners for San Francisco were Kelley in the 440, Landers and Mason in the high jump, Tom Leonard in the 880, Elmore in the 220 dash, Bagnall in the broad jump, Fairbanks in the two mile, Berensmeir in the low hurdles and Von Arx and Conover in the discus.

Niners Start FWC Race Tomorrow

Gator baseballers engage in their first conference game tomorrow afternoon when they meet Sacramento State on State home territory at 2 p.m.

As yet, the starting pitcher is not known for either team. Gator Coach Dick Boyle, however. will probably go with his big righthanded freshman ace of last year, Joel Heckmann.

Another candidate could be left hander Clint Lee. upset conqueror of the University of California. Elmer Clawson, a slim freshman righthanded control artist will be around to relieve whoever starts. Thus far this season, Clawson has won three straight games in relief roles to mark him as State's ace in win-loss records.

Good hitting performances should be turned in by outfielders Ron Rosenberg and Russ Rounavaara. Rounavaara, a senior, was top Gator hitter last season with a 420 batting average. He also was the club's second best r.b.i. man.

Wednesday, April 7, the Gators meet Mare Island Navy Yard in a practice game at Mare Island under lights. State was rained out of a game with Mare Island last March 24. Starting time of the game will be 7:30 p.m.

NETMEN OPEN HERE

Tennis will come back to San Francisco State today when the Gators meet St. Mary's Gails in the first home intercollegiate match of the season, on the West end of the campus in the sunken courts.

Use of the new courts means that State tennis teams will not have to travel to all parts of the city in order to use unoccupied, strange courts.

Golfers Beat Aggies

The Gator golfers, continuing their winning ways, soundly trounced the Cal Aggies 26 to 1 last Friday at Harding Park. San Francisco's Win Howe was medalist with a 73.

Highlight of the match was Monte Nevis' loss of the 12th hole to his opponent's eagle despite Nevis' birdie 4. Golf coach Ghetaldi stated that this was the first time this has happened in State's golfing history.

THINCLADS VIE WITH CAL AGGIES AT DAVIS

State trackmen engage the Cal Aggies tomorrow at Davis in their second meet of the season.

The Gators appear to be postseason favorites to annex the Far Western Conference crown this year.

Probable outstanding performers for State will be the outstanding miler, Jim Shettler, discus throwing George Von Arx, Herb Franklyn at the javelin and Al Desin in the high jump.

Freshman John Bologna, a shot putter, may come to the fore, while other individuals who could star are Fred Berensmeirer, Jack Landers, Frank Walsh and Leon Cathy in the hurdles, and Oreese Elmore in the sprints.

Staters Boot Second of Twin Bill to Aggies

State baseballers were halted in the five game winning streak last March 27 when they were beaten in the second game of a doubleheader by Cal Aggies, 7-4, after having taken the first one, 5-1. Both games were abreviated seven inning stints.

Big Clint Lee went the route for the Gators in the opening game, tossing a two hitter against the Aggies. He whiffed sir and passed two batters. Lee had a no hitter going into the sixth inning, but hit the first batter up, and then allowed two scratch hits and the lone run before he retired the side.

In this one, State was off to a four run first inning and from there were never pressed. They added another run in the fifth.

Ray Ortega threw a six hitter for Cal Aggies.

State made nine errors in the second game, to give away most of the seven runs allowed to the Aggies. Joel Heckmann started for the Gators, and a combination of the errors and a sore shoulder forced him out in favor of Elmer Clawson in the fifth inning. Infielder Bob Lacosta pitched the last inning for State, the only one in which the Aggies were stopped.

The Aggs collected only five hits in scoring in each of the first five innings, getting braces of runs in the second and fifth innings. State was held to three hits by Aggie hurler John Maxey, one of them a home run with one aboard by first baseman Jerry Rosenberg. The Gators scored two runs in each of the sixth and seventh innings. but were too late.

Golfers Meet St. Marys

State's golfers met St. Mary's on Tuesday, April 6, at Richmond 1:00 p.m. The Gators. sporting one of the best teams in their history, are favored to take this match.

Fresno Beats Aquamen; J. Angel in Three Firsts

Gator swimmers dropped a 51-33 decision last March 26 to Fresno State's Bulldogs at Fresno.

State was closer to the Bulldogs than the score indicates, with Fresno doing most of their damage in the relays.

Jose Angel was top Gator swimmer with wins in the 100, 220 and 440 events. Dale Northcutt was second high scorer with a first and a second place.

State Symphonic Band At Its Best

Wednesday evening, March 24, high school and grammar school students from all over Solano county heard what we can be certain is one of the best sounds in band music this side of anywhere. These Solano county students heard a San Francisco State Symphonic Band concert at the Fairfield High sshool.

When we say that the State Symphonic Band is able to and does produce a musical sound that in quality would be hard to beat by any band, marching, symphonic or otherwise, we are not saying so because this 100-member organization is a part of S.F. State. And anyone who thinks we are prejudiced will have the opportunity to hear that we are not when Mr. Kruth. the band's director, and the rest of the organization give their spring Formal Concert on the evenings of May 10 and 11 in the main auditorium of the Creative Arts Building.

At the Formal Concert. in such compositions as Franck's "Psyche and Eros" and Pierne's "In the Cathedral," those people who are in doubt will hear the exciting power of the low basses and woodwinds, the crisp articulation of the trumpets and clarinets. the subtle display of musical dynamics, and, in general, the blending into one great sound the notes of the various instruments.

If there are any among us who do not know the Symphonic Band, we, as a group, are not totally aware of what is going on musically in the immediate vicinity.

Beside giving a formal concert this spring, the Symphonic Band will be performing at schools in the Bay Area, as well as playing for S.F. State Creative Arts productions.—By R. Klang.
